

Chile Quake Toll Could Reach 30,000

By FERNANDO QUEVEDO
Associated Press Writer
LIMA, Peru (AP) — The Peruvian government rushed aid today to the 600-mile stretch of coastline devastated by a massive earthquake over the weekend. The confirmed death toll passed 1,000, and officials expressed fear that as many as 30,000 may have died.

The quake Sunday afternoon lasted only 40 seconds, but destroyed thousands of buildings and almost totally demolished a number of towns. Pilots of military observation planes reported entire villages "erased from the map" by earth slides or floods from Andean mountain lakes.

Official figures put the number of known dead at 630 in Huaraz, 175 miles north of Lima, and at 200 at the port town of Chimbote, some 35 miles to the northwest. Reports from dozens of other Peruvian cities raised the confirmed total of dead to more than 1,000.

Government spokesmen said more than 200,000 persons were homeless; with winter setting in the Andes, there was fear of pneumonia and other illness as sleet and rain plagued those seeking shelter.

Twenty army paratroopers from Lima were to be dropped today into Huaraz, a city of 22,000 high in the Andes that suffered 95 per cent destruction in the quake. After the paratroopers established communications, more air drops were to deliver provisions, doctors and medical supplies. Huaraz then will serve as a center of relief operations for the surrounding area.

The navy training ship Independencia was sailing today to Chimbote to serve as a hospital ship for that area.

The navy cruiser Bolognesi, which took President Juan Velasco to Chimbote Monday night, was returning to Lima with 300 injured persons.

A battalion of army engineers was en route by road to begin removing rubble from highways and rebuilding bridges. Army communications men were setting up a radio network to replace the ham operators who have been the only communication channel with much of the stricken area.

Landslides blocked roads, bridges were down, and fog rolled in over mountain passes, making air access almost impossible.

The government issued a communique Monday night stating that "given the magnitude of the catastrophe, it is estimated that the number of dead and injured is high." But officials were holding down the official death count to avoid panic.

The disaster hit the central and northern reaches of Peru and covered the largest area affected by any Peruvian quake in memory. The area includes 10 states with a population of about 6 million.

Officials feared thousands of persons were killed by floods when the quake ripped away natural dikes holding back one or more lakes in the mountains.

An American priest said in a ham broadcast that about 15,000 persons had been killed in Huaraz. Another amateur radio operator in Caraz, 45 miles to the northwest, said tons of water had completed the destruction begun by the earthquake the day before. He estimated the total dead in Caraz at 2,000. But government officials said ham operators tended to exaggerate casualty figures.

Three American missionaries were reported killed and two Peace Corps workers were presumed dead. Authorities were also concerned over the fate of Japanese and Czechoslovak mountain climbing expeditions that were in the ravaged area.

As the Peruvian government mobilized its forces to aid the quake victims, help poured in from abroad.

Cold Front to Bring Fair Skies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The cold front that extended through Central Arkansas early today was expected to move out of the area tonight and early Wednesday bringing fair skies to the state by Wednesday.

Rain was expected to continue in the state until tonight, the Weather Bureau said, as a low pressure center aloft over Oklahoma continued to bring moist air into Arkansas.

The extended outlook called for the possibility of showers to remain in the forecast through the end of the week.

Highs Monday ranged from 67 at Harrison to 82 at Texarkana. Overnight lows ranged from 58 at Fayetteville and Harrison to 70 at Memphis.

Precipitation for the 24-hour period that ended at 7 a.m. today included .36 inches at Fayetteville, 1.41 at Harrison, .24 at Jonesboro, .22 at Pine Bluff, .57 at Texarkana, .53 at El Dorado, 1.21 at Memphis, .29 at Little Rock and .28 at Fort Smith.

Faubus Perks Up With Wells' Announcement

By TOMMY YATES

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former Gov. Orval E. Faubus and Bill Wells of Hermitage, who announced Monday for the Democratic nomination for governor, came out swinging at the opening bell after Wells' announcement.

Faubus, who had announced May 13 he was coming out of political retirement to seek another term as governor, obviously did not want Wells in the gubernatorial primary.

One Capitol source said Monday that "you can bet the McClellin camp is jumping up and down with joy" because Wells entered the governor's race. The source figured that Faubus and Wells would take votes away from each other, relieving some of the vote-getting pressure

Fighting Is Heavy and Casualties Up

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops overran part of a South Vietnamese mountain artillery base today, inflicting one of the heaviest casualty tolls suffered by the Saigon government's forces in such an attack.

Field reports said at least 46 South Vietnamese troops had been killed, 84 were wounded and 15 others were missing. There also were some casualties among American and Australian advisers at the outpost in the northwest corner of South Vietnam, the reports said.

At least 57 North Vietnamese were reported killed in the fighting, which began before dawn. At mid-afternoon enemy forces were still holding part of the firebase.

The outpost is a former U.S. Marine base named Tun Tavern, after the Philadelphia inn where the Marine Corps was founded in 1775.

The enemy force, believed to be from the 66th North Vietnamese Regiment, hit the base with small arms, rocket grenades and satchel charges. The attackers broke through the perimeter and captured some of the bunkers on the east side of the base, then used them to fire on the defenders in other parts of the camp.

Although allied operations in Cambodia have curtailed enemy attacks in the southern part of South Vietnam, there have been a series of fierce North Vietnamese attacks recently against bases in the northernmost provinces, where South Vietnamese forces have taken over the major burden of combat.

Two South Vietnamese battalions have been operating in the Da Krong valley since mid-April in efforts to clean out North Vietnamese base and supply areas built up since the last major allied operation there, the highly successful Operation Dewey Canyon in early 1969.

There has been considerable fighting in the valley, but it has been largely unreported by the government in Saigon. One of the two battalions was occupying Tun Tavern as a night bivouac position when the base was attacked.

The South Vietnamese casualties were the worst reported in any attack on a government force since late March, when 67 were killed and 115 wounded at Firebase Schroeder in the Mekong Delta.

The U.S. Command reported no significant fighting by American units in Cambodia and said action in the Cambodian Fishhook and surrounding regions was "extremely light and scattered."

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 47 North Vietnamese killed and four South Vietnamese wounded in an enemy ground assault near Kompong Cham, and 26 enemy slain in clashes east of Prey Veng. Five South Vietnamese were killed and seven wounded in the latter action, headquarters said.

A Cambodian military spokesman in Phnom Penh reported that North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces had occupied the town of Rovieng, in north-central Cambodia, and were keeping up pressure on Kompong Thom, the provincial capital 50 miles to the south.

Several busloads of Cambodian paratroopers headed south from Phnom Penh to sweep the roads 35 miles south of the capital where eight newsmen from the Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Co. disappeared Sunday.

Three Americans were in the group, Gerald Miller and George Syvertsen of CBS and Welles Hagen of NBC. Cambodian soldiers said peasants in the area reported the Jeep in which Syvertsen, Miller and a Cambodian driver were riding was hit by a B40 rocket, and then the Jeep and the two cars in which the other newsmen were riding came under automatic weapons fire.

sure of state Rep. Hayes C. McClellin of Texarkana, one of seven persons who have either announced or filed for the Democratic primary.

After Wells had announced he would run for governor rather than lieutenant governor, the office most thought he would seek, Faubus said, "Whether intentionally or unintentionally, Bill Wells has done exactly what the Rockefeller crowd wanted him to do."

Faubus said in his opinion, Wells "will be eliminated in the first primary in the race for governor but a number of the sincere voters he gets would otherwise have voted for me."

by James E. Crampton, under death sentence in Ohio in the slaying of his wife, and by Dennis C. McJannet, sentenced to death in California for the shooting death of a storekeeper.

Together these cases present the two questions raised by Maxwell—1. Whether the death sentence can be imposed without guidance from the trial judge. 2. Whether juries should decide guilt or innocence and the sentence in one sitting.

The more than 500 men and two women on death rows will be spared execution at least until the court decides these questions.

Meanwhile, by a vote of 5 to 2, the court declined to upset an order by a group of U.S. appeals court judges that stripped federal Judge Stephen S. Chandler of Oklahoma City of most of his power and authority.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said Chandler had failed to properly challenge the 1966 action. Justices Douglas and Hugo L. Black dissented vigorously, saying the judges had, in effect, impeached Chandler—a function the Constitution expressly reserves to Congress.

On the labor front, a 5-2 vote gave federal district judges power to force unions to live up to no-strike agreements.

The decision, given by Justice Brennan, overturned a 1962 interpretation of the Norris-La Guardia Act. Congress, said Brennan, intends to have contract disputes settled by arbitration rather than by strike or lockout.

The test case involved a strike by a Retail Clerks union local against The Boys Markets, Inc., which runs a chain of supermarkets in California. Despite a no-strike contract, the union walked out in protest over the handling of frozen food items in a store at Cudahy, Calif.

Justice Potter Stewart, who switched positions from 1962, helping to make the turnabout possible, quoted the late Justice Felix Frankfurter that "wisdom too often never comes, and so one ought not to reject it merely because it comes late."

year beginning in July—stand, mainly because his analysts say it is caused by a drop in corporate income taxes brought on by the business doldrums.

Ending the surtax won't mean much to the average taxpayer—an extra 70 cents a week for four-member families with $5,000 yearly incomes, $1.70 if income is $10,000—but taken together it will be a substantial economic stimulant matching the one that accompanied the January cut.

Dr. Harold C. Passer, the Commerce Department's chief economist, last week listed the expiration of the surtax as one of the major factors behind official administration forecasts of a business upturn. The others were smaller—$4 billion from higher social Security payments and $3 billion from higher federal pay.

The cut will be especially welcome to taxpayers with incomes of $5,000, because their withholding taxes actually rose in January despite the surtax reduction.

Last year, $5.70 was deducted from weekly pay of $96.15. Since then it has been $6.10, an anomaly the Internal Revenue Service called a "quirk." It was caused, the IRS said, by bugs in the complex mathematical formulas needed to figure out the new low income allowance included in the Tax Reform Act Congress passed last December.

The Social Security laws already have provided a minor bonanza for some higher-income taxpayers, and more will be affected as the year wears on.

The taxes are collected at the rate of 4.8 per cent until they reach a maximum of $374.40 for the year. People making about $17,800 reach the limit this week, and those making $15,000 pay through July.

Anyone who makes $7,800 or less pays all year.

Fires Flicker Out in Indian Held Alcatraz

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Although encamped Indians refused outside help, scattered fires in buildings and brushland flickered out early today on Alcatraz Island, the Coast Guard said.

The fires, which started late Monday night, appeared confined to five or six wooden buildings and didn't hit the main cell blocs where many of the 80 Indians live on the 21-acre former prison fortress in San Francisco Bay.

Gibbs Surprise Candidate for GOP Nomination

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Lester L. Gibbs, 64, became a surprise candidate Monday for the Republican party nomination for governor.

Politically unknown, Gibbs resigned Friday from the state Revenue Department where he had been delinquent tax collector in the division of auditing and accounting.

He showed up Monday at GOP state headquarters, paid his $1,500 filing fee, and said he would complete his filing procedure at the secretary of state's office after a news conference at 9:30 a.m. today.

Gibbs said Monday he had supported the GOP ticket since the 1968 Democratic party convention in Chicago, where protests boiled into controversial riots.

Former Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who has announced but not filed as a Democratic party candidate for governor, said Monday night in response to a question that Gibbs had worked in the 1954 Faubus campaign.

Faubus said he, like many Republican party officials, was surprised that Gibbs had filed as a gubernatorial candidate.

Neal Sox Johnson, GOP state executive director, told newsmen that Gibbs "is not known to us in the Republican ranks." "That is not to say he is not a Republican," Johnson added. Johnson was out to lunch when Gibbs showed up at 12:15 p.m. Monday and filed by paying his fee to Nick Nickerson, Johnson's assistant.

Gibbs said that he had made his decision to run within the past 15 days.

The new candidate had worked for the Revenue Department since 1955. Robert W. Faulkner, executive secretary to Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, said he talked with Gibbs two weeks ago. Gibbs was contemplating a race for governor if Rockefeller did not seek re-election, Faulkner said.

Rockefeller, serving his second term, is to announce June 9 whether he will seek a third term. Faubus described Gibbs as "an acquaintance of mine," and said he talked with Gibbs earlier this month just prior to announcing as a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

The ex-governor said he had not encouraged Gibbs to run in the Republican primary.

"I guess I'm going to be like Jesse James — they're going to attribute everything to me," Faubus said.

Gibbs, a native of Conway, joined the Revenue Department as a file clerk in 1955. In previous years he had worked as a parts clerk for the state Highway Department.

said it had five cutters standing by but that the Indians refused an offer to be evacuated and one shouted he didn't want firefighters or equipment on the island.

Authorities couldn't say whether the Indians managed to put out the fires themselves or they had died out. Water is scarce on the island, with sympathizers bringing it in by the jug.

The federal government Friday said it would turn the former dread prison site into a national recreation area. The Indians, who began camping on the unoccupied island Nov. 20 to claim it for use as a cultural center, say they won't leave.

Antiwar Move Hits Military Officers Corps

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The antiwar movement has reached the U.S. military officers corps.

Calling themselves the Concerned Officers' Movement, about 25 Washington-based officers, mostly Navy men, have banded together to provide a forum for what they say is growing disillusionment among their ranks with the Indochina war.

A leader says the small group is probably the first antiwar organization at the officer level.

"Most of the junior officers are somewhat disillusioned about the war in Indochina," Lt. (j.g.) Phil Lehman, a Harvard graduate with eight months of Vietnam duty behind him, told a reporter.

Lehman, now in a supply billet here, said the group has broader concerns than the war — military justice and what he called "the quality of life in the military." The group reportedly has contacted other bases with favorable responses coming from California, Florida and Rhode Island.

The chief tool the organization uses to spread its views is a monthly newsletter.

The first issue of the newsletter, distributed in April, contended that U.S. policies had "turned an internal political struggle into a nation-destroying blood bath" in Vietnam.

Through its newsletter, the organization said its purpose is to "serve notice to the military and the nation that the officer corps is not part of a silent majority, that it is not going to let its thought be fashioned by the Pentagon."

Lehman said his commanding officer discussed the matter with him but there was no harassment.

Nobody has suggested he stop his activity "not yet" — Lehman said.

The lieutenant said the newsletter is being put out in conformity with regulations, since neither government facilities, materials nor time are used.

Lehman indicated the organization makes strong efforts to avoid inflammatory rhetoric in getting its ideas across.

Lehman said most of the members of the organization entered the service, as he did, through ROTC or received commissions from officer candidate schools. None are "career motivated," he said.

They range in age from 23 to 30, several are doctors and a number of them have served in Vietnam.

Asked why he joined ROTC, Lehman said he was perfectly willing to serve.

"I felt I had to serve my military obligation and that being an officer in the Navy was the best way to do this," he said.

was only about three-fourths that of nonfarmers.

To combat overproduction, Hardin said, steps were launched last year to arrive at a consensus on new farm legislation which "would bring about production adjustment and maintain farm income without inhibiting the growth of markets or placing obstacles in the way of farming efficiency."

The House Agriculture Committee is currently involved in drafting an omnibus farm bill incorporating some of the administration's views on production adjustment and government payments.

On rural development, Hardin said, the U.S. population may increase by as many as 100 million persons by the next century and added that if all are concentrated in the cities the result "could be disastrous."

"The alternative," he said, "is to create in and around the smaller cities and towns of rural America a new environment of jobs, education and favorable living conditions that will, first, stem net migration to urban centers, and then reverse it."

PORTER REUNION

Four years ago the children, grandchildren, great and great-grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Tolbert (Teague) Porter Sr. decided to have an annual reunion.

The first one was held at Trinity R.C.I. Building in 1967. There were families from several states. The second and third year of the reunion was held at the Recreation Center, Prescott, Arkansas. Last year everyone was encouraged to bring their hobby, several did this.

Two of the most outstanding hobbies were displayed by James (Dock) Rowe of Hope, Arkansas. He brought a hand-made, hand-carved saddle and bridle, which sold almost before he had time to put it on display. His cousin, Dr. Jack Rowe, M.D., from Houston, bought it.

The other display was the hand tools used by Mathew T. Porter, Sr. in making chairs, cabinets, and shoes. They were over 100 years old.

We were also told that Mathew T. Porter Sr. had a record for running the 100 yard dash. His record was 7 seconds, and was set in Nevada County. Unfortunately, the Nevada County records were destroyed during the Civil War, but as far as anyone knows, his record has not been broken.

June 7th will be the fourth reunion, the place, Trinity R.C.I. Building, eight miles out of Okolona, Arkansas, Highway 51, or about 14 miles west of Arkadelphia.

Everyone who is relative of his family or an in-law, please come and bring a well filled basket of food, your hobby, and help us have a grand reunion.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. JAMES M. McDONALD

The soft glow of candlelight formed the setting Saturday evening, May 30 for the wedding of Miss Amelia Gaines and James Mitchell McDonald of Benton. The Reverend Larry Gaines of Lufkin, Texas, brother of the bride, performed the double-ring ceremony in the sanctuary of the Unity Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Forrest Gaines of Hope, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross McDonald of Benton. The couple exchanged marriage vows before a background of greenery and burning tapers flanked by seven-branched candelabra, and floor baskets of white glads. White satin bows marked the pews.

Jamie Light of Shreveport and Larry Byers of Hope, both cousins of the groom, lighted the candles. Mrs. Arthur Streh, organist, presented a selection of nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Clarence Geist, who sang "One Hand, One Heart" and recited "How Do I Love Thee?" while "Ave Maria" was played. "The Lord's Prayer" was sung as the couple knelt on a prie-dieu at the conclusion of the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace and silk-faced peau. The fitted bodice with a scalloped neckline and long sleeves that ended in lily points over her hands held a sheath skirt with a full cathedral train. Matching lace trimmed her waist-length mantilla. She carried a cascade bouquet of white bridal roses with satin streamers centered with a white orchid. The bride wore the traditional "something old, new, borrowed, and blue with a sixpence in her shoe." The "something old" was a heirloom wedding band, a gift of her grandmother, Mrs. Lillie Fowler of Hope. She also wore a diamond pendant, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. Larry Gaines of Lufkin, Texas, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor, and Miss Sue King of Dallas served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were: Miss Beverly McGough of El Dorado and Miss Dolly Wylie of Murfreesboro. The attendants were identical floor-length gowns of blue Shantay. The Empire waistline was complemented with a lace-on-satin band. Their headpieces were of illusion petals, lilies of the valley and seed pearls which held tiers of blue illusion. The flower girl, Miss Amy Hughes of Benton, wore a floor-length gown identical to the bridesmaids' dresses.

Dr. Fred Tucker McDonald of Dallas, brother of the groom, was his best man. Groomsman were: Glen Hockersmith, Bob Cushing and William Merrell, all of Benton. Ushers were Larry Don Wright of Hope and Bob Blackshear of Paragould. Master John Scott Deaton of Fort Smith, cousin of the bride, was the ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Gaines chose a pink dress of lace with matching accessories. She wore a white cymbidium orchid at her shoulder. The groom's mother, Mrs. McDonald, wore a blue dress of imported silk with matching accessories and also had a white cymbidium orchid.

Mrs. Raymond Johnson of El Dorado, cousin of the bride invited the guests into the reception, held in the Fellowship Hall of the church, and introduced the receiving line. Serving at the reception were Miss Demetria Runyan of El Dorado, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Frankie Wallingford of Hampton, Miss Dinah Silvey and Miss Barbara Kusley, both of Texarkana. Miss Katy Roberts of Little Rock was in charge of the bride's book.

For a wedding trip to Panama City, Fla., the bride donned a light blue linen suit with matching accessories and pinned the orchid from her bridal bouquet at her shoulder.

Mr. and Mrs. McDonald will make their home in Arkadelphia, where the groom will be an August graduate of Ouachita Baptist University.

Fewer Shows, Spectators on Broadway

NEW YORK (AP) — There were fewer shows and fewer spectators on Broadway during the 1969-70 theater year, but some cheerier trends were evident too in the world of drama, comedy and musicals.

Counting a $4.5-million dip from the previous season's record Broadway boxoffice of $58 million, commercial road companies grossed $48 million, a 10 per cent jump from 1968-69.

Off-Broadway, with lower costs attracting several major producers, boomed with 97 shows, including both the Pulitzer and Critic Circle prize plays in the entertainment year which traditionally ends May 31.

Soaring expenses made it apparent at least that fewer shows of hopelessly artistic but dubious boxoffice merit would be risked on Broadway.

Significant too was the fact that among 40 productions sponsored by commercial managers, six were revivals of old hits with "Harvey" especially demonstrating the pull of such when decorated with stars such as Jimmy Stewart and Helen Hayes. Altogether, stage shows played a total of 970 performance weeks, compared to 1,100 the previous year.

In general, the backers who posted about $12 million for Broadway productions found the odds on picking a winner were still about one in four. Another $5 million backed 97 offerings off-Broadway, where the odds were about one in seven.

The balance sheet on total Broadway endeavor during the season must include, of course, the payoffs that continue to be racked up by eight long-run bonanzas, including "Fiddler on the Roof" and "Hello, Dolly!"

Five other marathon entertainers closed during the year with solid profits. For example, "Cabaret" netted $1.35 million on an investment of $400,000 and "MAME" PAID $1.67 million.

The five biggest winners, still running, of Broadway's 1969-70 year include the musicals "A Place Called Love," "Coco" and "Company" and two comedies, "Butterflies Are Free" and "Last of the Red Hot Lovers." Still going with chances of recouping costs are two other musicals, "The Boy Friend" and "Purlie," and two dramas, "Borstal Boy" and "Child's Play."

HELEN HELP US!

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT! This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us! it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper. SUBSTITUTE FATHER IS BETTER THAN NONE AT ALL.

Dear Helen: Our mother and father are legally separated, and Dad doesn't come to visit. He blames our mother but it is not all her fault. He has a girl friend and her children are near our ages, so maybe he doesn't need his own.

Well, we two girls are of teen ages, and can get along, but our little brother really needs a father. He doesn't have an uncle or grandfather, or any male to cheer him on at games or scouts, and he has about given up.

Our boy friends try to help, but that isn't the same.

Helen, how do you explain to a little boy that his dad doesn't want him? It's been almost two years now since he's seen him. And how can we help our brother?—E.M.

Dear E: Call Big Brothers of America. They're listed in your telephone book. When your little brother finds a substitute for his father, the hurt of losing him will gradually diminish.

Meanwhile, try not to show your bitterness. Try not to even see him. It brings lasting scars.—H.

Dear Helen: I'm 16, have a slender build, not voluptuous, but not Twiggyish, either. I wear stylish clothes, but never micro-mini.

Walking home from school, I encounter the most unbelievably immature men. Not boys, but middle-aged guys who leer, stare, whistle, snicker, and generally make fools of themselves as I pass by.

I appreciate attention from boys near my own age. They treat me as a person and a friend. But 40-year-olds attempting to demonstrate their masculine prowess—well, I pity them, and their wives!

Please pass the word on to those elderly leechers. We high school girls think they're juvenile. —NOT AMUSED

Dear Not: Elderly leechers of the world: Grow up! Okay?—H.

Dear Helen: Talk about irony! Because he wanted to be identified with the peace movement, my guy grew long hair and a big beard, like the other college men working for peace. It was a shaggy bunch on campus last week. Then, they showed up looking like junior executives—shaved, shorn, and in shoes, not sandals.

You see, they'd been circulating petitions in favor of the amendment to end the war in Vietnam, and they discovered that you can talk to The Establishment better if you look like one of them. So they made the supreme sacrifice. The hair it took them a year to grow went on "the cutting room floor."

Now I'm supposed to feel as

'Futile Loss' Says Director

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Col. Ralph Scott, State Police director, termed the loss of seven lives during the Memorial Day weekend on Arkansas' highways as a "futile loss" of young lives.

He said late Sunday that all but one of the persons killed were below the age of 25.

"With these seven deaths we lost a potential doctor, lawyer, or educator, but most of all, their families will be deprived of their presence," Scott said.

Scott said this year's total of seven matched the number of persons killed during the same period last year.

Jim Bouton Has No New Book Plans

NEW YORK (AP) — Pitcher Jim Bouton says he has no immediate plans to write another book. . . but isn't sorry about the one he's already written, the controversial Ball Four.

"I'm glad I wrote the book," the Houston right-hander said Monday after emerging from a two-hour meeting with Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Kuhn reprimanded Bouton, in what amounted to a verbal slap on the wrist, with this statement to newsmen:

"I advised Mr. Bouton of my displeasure with these writings and have warned him against future writings of this character. Under all the circumstances, I have concluded that no other action was necessary."

Bouton's book, co-authored with Leonard Shecter, editor of Look Magazine, concerned his playing days with the New York Yankees. He made personal disclosures of many players, including superstar Mickey Mantle.

The book has not yet been released, although excerpts of it have appeared in Look.

Bouton was accompanied at the meeting by Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association and Dick Miller, an association lawyer.

While they huddled, youngsters demonstrated outside with signs reading, "Kuhn Stop Repression And Harassment," "Jim Bouton Must Not Be Repressed," and "No Punishment For Exposing The Truth."

Bouton said he thought the demonstration was "terrific."

Bouton, who was to rejoin his team for a game tonight at the Astrodome, said he didn't expect any disciplinary action from club officials.

Actor's Son Could Be the Greatest

By DAN BERGER
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mention Bill Elliott and Mom says, "He was great," son chimes in with "He's terrific," and the generation gap runs into more problems.

Mom meant Wild Bill, 1950 cowboy movie actor. Soa meant Bill Elliott, the Texas high jumper who could be the best in the nation right now and a top contender for world honors.

The 23-year-old, 6-foot-1 jumper couldn't even be considered anything more than a member of the Texas squad a year ago. "I had only cleared 6-2 in the high jump," he draws. "So one day in practice I was just clowning around and I went over the bar backwards."

The style, known as the Fosbury Flop, was named for former Oregon State jumper Dick Fosbury who set the American record two years ago by winning the Olympic gold medal at 7-4 1/2.

"I asked my coach about it," Elliott said, "and he said he didn't care if I took off on my hands because my best height was 6-2." In his first meet with the new method, he leaped 6-6 and last year as a senior went 6-10.

"You have to be faster with the flop method of high jumping if you want to be good. Since the style came so naturally to me, I had to develop my speed because I'm no streak of lightning," Elliott says.

A fast approach and a hard-driving takeoff are the keys to the flop and he "has better technique, better speed and power than Fosbury," says Elliott's coach, Tom Jenkins.

The method does one thing, though. "It makes you try hard on each jump because if you

Top Hitters Left Off the All-Star List

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball returned the all-star voting to the fans this year—the first time since 1937 when Cincinnati Reds fans stuffed the ballot box.

Now, automation has taken over and Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's face may be red because of it. Computer cards with a state of candidates drawn up during the spring training to allow for printing and distribution show some glaring omissions.

Such top hitters as Rico Carty, Bill Grabarkewitz, Felipe Alou and Alex Johnson were not included and need a heavy write-in vote for the July 14 starting team at Cincinnati.

Meanwhile, Ken Harrelson, out all season so far after a spring training injury, and Mike Shannon, sidelined most of the season by a kidney ailment, are listed.

The voting on the candidates began last Saturday and will run through June 28.

A check of the top ten hitters in each of the two leagues through game 5 of Monday, June 1, shows that 10 of the 20 were not nominated by major league managers and player representatives during the spring.

One of the most embarrassing omissions from the list of nominees is Carty, the Atlanta Braves' slugger who tops the National League with a .436 mark, or 42 points better than any other regular (at least 123 at bats) in either league.

Carty, who hit .558 during the past week, also has 14 homers and 45 runs batted in.

Grabarkewitz, a rookie surprise for the Los Angeles Dodgers at third base, is batting .373, right behind Cincinnati's Tony Perez, .376, who was nominated for the team.

Alou is clubbing the ball at a .344 clip for the Oakland Athletics and Johnson is hitting .366 for the California Angels. Other American League non-nominees in the top ten are Cleveland's Vada Pinson, .336, and veteran Al Kaline of Detroit, .329.

The National League's top ten has six who were not nominated. In addition to Carty and Grabarkewitz, they are Dick Dietz, San Francisco catcher, .350; Clarence Caston, San Diego outfielder, .337; Ken Henderson, San Francisco outfielder, .335, and Art Shamsky, New York Mets' first baseman-outfielder, .331.

Such long-ball hitters as Milwaukee outfielder Danny Walton (38 RBIs) and San Diego first sacker Nate Colbert (17 homers) need the write-in vote.

In addition to Perez, the list of nominees in the NL includes the following leading hitters: Roberto Clemente, Pittsburgh, right fielder, .346; Denis Menke, Houston shortstop, .335, and Richie Hebner, Pittsburgh third baseman, .331.

AL nominees who are hitting among the leaders include league-leader Rod Carew, Minnesota second baseman, .394; Frank Robinson, Baltimore outfielder, .387; Luis Aparicio, Chicago shortstop, .348; Roy White, New York Yankees outfielder, .333; Tony Oliva, Minnesota outfielder, .330, and Harmon Killebrew, Minnesota third baseman, .329.

and, more important, their muscles get less oxygen from the blood stream than at sea level.

Sir Alf Ramsey, coach of the defending champion English team, is more concerned about what happens to a player after a game than during competition.

Sir Alf took his squad on a four-game tour to Bogota and Quito, South American cities with an even higher altitude, to tune them up for the title defense. In the first match he played 11 men for the game's full 90 minutes.

"After the game they appeared to be no more exhausted than normal after a match," he said. "But what surprised us was the length of time necessary for recovery. Four days later against Ecuador it was clear they had not fully recovered from the previous match."

This becomes vitally important because the World Cup matches are scheduled with three or four days of rest between games. If a team's best players cannot regain their top form during this rest period, the team is likely to be in trouble. So teams such as England, which came to Mexico with the starting line-up pretty much settled might be forced into making wholesale changes. Players might leapfrog from game to game, playing one match, resting one match and then playing again.

Things Turn Out Well for Dodgers

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
The skies over Chicago and Don Sutton's career record against the Cubs weren't the very best recommendations for Los Angeles to start Monday's ball game. But Los Angeles went ahead anyway and, like most things have lately, everything turned out well for the Dodgers.

Sutton, who had lost 13 of 14 career decisions against the Cubs, waited out an hour and seven minute rain delay at the start for another shot. Then, after the Dodgers rallied for three runs in the sixth inning, Sutton sweated out another hour and 32 minutes of rain before the game was called and the Dodgers won 5-4.

In Monday's only other game, Pittsburgh trimmed San Diego 5-1.

San Francisco's game at St. Louis was postponed by rain and all the other major league clubs had the day off.

Billy Grabarkewitz ripped a two-run homer in the sixth, clinching the Dodgers' comeback rally against loser Bill Hands, 7-3. Hands had held the Dodgers hitless after being tagged for three straight hits and two runs at the very start of the game.

Then, with LA trailing 4-2 and the skies looking ominous, Willie Davis opened the sixth with a triple. Wes Parker doubled him home and Grabarkewitz followed with his fifth homer of the season and second in as many days.

Sutton, 7-5, retired the Cubs in the bottom half of the sixth and then the rain washed out the remainder of the game.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Dodgers and moved them into second place in the National League's Western Division.

Dock Ellis, 4-4, scattered six hits and scored two runs himself, helping Pittsburgh whip San Diego.

Matty Alou and Willie Stargell each cracked a pair of doubles for the Pirates and Ellis' leadoff single started a two-run rally in the third inning.

Johnson Will Try Again as a Coach

BOSTON (AP) — Tom Johnson has had his name engraved on the Stanley Cup eight times as a star defenseman with the Montreal Canadiens. Now he's going to try to get it on hockey's most coveted trophy again as coach of the Boston Bruins.

The 42-year-old Johnson, who played 15 seasons in the National Hockey League before a foot injury ended his career, agreed to a one-year contract Monday to coach the Bruins in defense of the Stanley Cup in 1970-71.

The Bruins, shocked by Harry Sinden's decision to quit and enter private business last month, needed only to dip into their front office to find a successor. Johnson moved into an executive capacity when his playing career with the Bruins ended in 1965 and has been an assistant to General Manager Milt Schmidt for three years.

"Tom was our unanimous choice," Schmidt said. "He is a good sound hockey man who has been in the organization seven years and knows the club. He also knows the likes and dislikes of the players both on and off the ice."

Johnson never has coached at any level and admits his lack of experience may pose "a considerable problem for a while."

"It's certainly better inheriting Stanley Cup champions than a last place club," he said. "I think the only way we can top the past season is to win the league championship. And we can do it."

In Sinden's fourth season as coach, the Bruins tied Chicago in the NHL's East Division this year. Each had 99 points, but the Black Hawks were awarded first place on the basis of more victories. Boston then blitzed the Hawks in four straight playoff games.

A native of Winnipeg, Johnson grew up in the Toronto Maple Leafs' junior system in Manitoba, but was drafted by Montreal when he was 19. He played 13 seasons with the Canadiens before being drafted by Boston in 1963.

Two-run shot in the sixth inning that gave Los Angeles a 5-4 rain-shortened victory over Chicago.

IT PROBABLY WON'T CATCH ON among tennis players who don't move on administration courts, but Peace Corps Director Joseph Blatchford had good reason for the unorthodox headgear recently. He donned the crash helmet after being zonked by a celebrated but erratic vice-presidential serve.

League Heads to Testify in Flood Suit

NEW YORK (AP) — The presidents of the National and American leagues were expected to take the stand today in the controversial Curt Flood baseball suit.

Chub Feeney, the National League president, was the only witness in day-long proceedings Monday. American League President Joe Cronin and Bing Devine, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, waited in the wings.

Feeney, who continues his testimony today, agreed Monday "it would be fair" to relax some of baseball's reserve clause. He said he would favor a change in the reserve clause, letting a player become a free agent at the age of 35.

Flood's suit against baseball and the major league owners is directed at the reserve clause, charging it is a form of slavery which binds a player to a team for life without individual recourse.

Flood, an all-star outfielder for the Cardinals for many years, brought his suit after he was swapped to the Philadelphia Phillies during the off-season.

Cross-examined by one of Flood's lawyers, Jay Topkis, Feeney was first asked if he would favor a change in the rules that made a man a free agent—a change the owners have steadfastly refused to grant.

"Yes," he retorted. "How about 55 years of age," Topkis asked, trying to get something on the record.

"That would be fair," Feeney

Nijinsky Is Epsom Derby Favorite

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
LONDON (AP) — Nijinsky, the 3-year-old son of Kentucky Derby winner Northern Dancer, is the all-out favorite for Wednesday's running of the historic Epsom Derby.

Bookmakers slashed the odds on Nijinsky, owned by New York platinum tycoon Charles W. Engelhard, to 5-4 today and the colt became one of the surest derby favorites since World War II.

British champion jockey Lester Piggott, who scared thousands of bettors over the weekend by saying he felt ill, said he is now fit and ready to ride Nijinsky in the 1 1/2-mile classic.

Politico, rated as one of Nijinsky's likeliest challengers, bruised a hind foot in training and was reported a doubtful starter.

Everything appeared set for Engelhard to win his first Epsom Derby and land the first prize of $149,546.

Nijinsky, who has won all seven of his starts thus far, has been hailed by many critics already as one of the all-time greats. Racing correspondents have written in rapturous language of his rhythmic, flowing stride.

But others have a doubt about the Canadian-born colt's ability to last on the horseshoe-shaped Epsom course. He has never yet raced over more than a mile.

It's the breeding that makes them hesitate. Nijinsky's sire, Northern Dancer, won the Kentucky Derby over 1 1/4 miles in 1964 but failed in the 1 1/2-mile Belmont Stakes the same year.

Nijinsky's dam, flaming Page, won over 1 1/2 miles but never anything longer.

Goalie's Death Is Under Investigation

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — Dist. Atty. William Cahn says his office is investigating the death of New York Ranger goaltender Terry Sawchuk.

Sawchuk, 40, one of the National Hockey League's stars for two decades, died Sunday after being hospitalized for a month following a mysterious injury.

Cahn said Monday he and his staff were studying autopsy reports, which showed the immediate cause of death to be a blood clot in the lungs.

Sawchuk died in a New York hospital after undergoing surgery Saturday. He was transferred there from a Long Island hospital where he had undergone two other operations.

He told authorities he was injured while "rough housing" on the lawn of the Long Island home he shared with Ron Stewart, a Ranger teammate. The two had returned to the home at 3 a.m. on April 29 after drinking at a nearby tavern.

Stewart, at his Ontario home, could not be reached for comment.

Hyndman Top American Challenger

NEWCASTLE, Northern Ireland (AP) — Bill Hyndman of Philadelphia, the top American challenger, tees off today in the British Amateur Golf Tournament.

Hyndman, who lost to defending champion Michael Bonallack of England in last year's finals, was among 40 remaining Americans. The American challenge was reduced to that number Monday by late scratches and losers.

Blistering wind helped sort out the men from the boys on the first day of the six-day marathon over the Royal County Down's 6,923-yard, par-71 links and 80 matches were decided on the final hole.

Among the American winners Monday were Grant Spaeth of Stanford University; Boyd O'Donnell of La Jolla, Calif.; Frank Lovell of Columbus, Ind.; Dr. Frank Whitaker of San Jose, Calif.; Hunter McDonald of Detroit; Frank Kaminski of Bloomfield, N.J., and Gale Green of Las Vegas, Nev.

Bonallack, seeking an unprecedented third consecutive title, breezed to a 7 and 6 victory over Mike Murray, a local player, in one of the matches Monday.

The original field of 256 will be reduced in week-long matches until the 36-hole final Saturday.

bandleader Les Brown, ex-jockey Eddie Arcaro, former Green Bay Packers Paul Hornung and Jerry Kramer, Al Hirt, Alabama football Coach Paul Bryant and actor Dale Robertson.

Both finished regular play in three-under-par 69.

Murphy's quip was typical of the free-and-easy atmosphere about the tournament, sponsored by the Louisville Area Chamber of Commerce to raise money for Louisville General Hospital.

With comedians like Jimmy Durante and Pat Henry around, it was difficult for most of the pros to get down to serious business.

Each professional, including Memphis Open winner Dave Hill, Frank Beard, Julius Boros, Bobby Nichols, Tony Jacklin, and Lee Trevino, received $1,000 for his appearance.

Murphy's thoroughbred was sired by Kentucky Jug out of Miss Petare. His prize probably will cost him about $6,000 for a year's room and board.

Some of the celebrities playing or attending the tournament were singer Bobby Goldsboro,

Hockey Team Ownership Overturned

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Seals Ltd., original owner of the Oakland Seals, has regained control of the National Hockey League team by a judge's order.

Superior Court Judge Robert Schnacke said Monday Trans-National Communications Inc., which owns the Boston Celtics, defaulted on terms of its agreement to buy the three-year-old hockey club from Seals Ltd. last year.

He adjourned a week-old trial over the club's ownership until June 9, when Seals Ltd., headed by Barry Van Gerbig, will propose selling the club for $3.4 million to Charles O. Finley, owner of the Oakland Athletics.

Schnacke said he will consider whether the sale is "conducted in a commercially reasonable manner."

He said he will weigh any other offers before Finley's offer deadline of June 30.

Ashe's Slam Bid Runs Into Rough Going

PARIS (AP) — Arthur Ashe's bid for the tennis grand slam runs into a formidable barrier today when he meets Zeljko Franulovic of Yugoslavia in a quarter-final match in the French Open tennis tournament.

Ashe, the winner of the Australian title this year, needs to add the French, Wimbledon and U.S. championships to match the feat achieved only by Don Budge of the United States and Rod Laver of Australia.

But Ashe, of Richmond, Va., has made his tennis fame as a grass court player. Franulovic is a clay court expert and is thoroughly at home on the red clay at Roland Garros Stadium. In four matches between the two players on hard courts, Franulovic has won three times.

Ashe has worked hard to adapt his game to clay, the surface he favored when he was first starting tennis. He was in Romania for a week before the French tournament opened to work out with Ilie Nastase and Ion Tiriac, clay court specialists.

He has learned to use patience in the long rallies but he still has to prove that he has the touch for drop shots and lobs.

The tournament seeded Ashe No. 3 and Franulovic No. 5. Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex. today runs up against Nastase, the Italian champion this year and seeded No. 1 here.

Hill Climbs Into Top 10 Moneywise

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Hill, last year's runner-up, climbed into the Top 10 money list Monday of the PGA Tournament Players Division.

Hill, winner of the coveted Vardon Trophy in 1969, captured the Danny Thomas-Memphis Open title over the weekend to collect $30,000 and go from 23rd on the money list to ninth with a total of $67,580.

Lee Trevino held his money lead with $108,119 earned this year. Gary Player was second with $88,078. Dick Lotz third with $75,951. Billy Casper fourth with $69,483 and Miller Barber fifth with $68,919.

Rounding out the top 10 were Bob Lunn, with $68,299; Frank Beard, $68,245; Romero Blancas, $67,711; Dave Hill, $67,580 and Jack Nicklaus, $66,283.

Hill also advanced from 14th last week to seventh in the point race with a total of 706.2. Points determine tournament privileges for the 1971 tournament season.

Trevino also led in points with 948.3. Lunn was second with 793.9; Blancas third with 791.6; Beard fourth with 728.4 and Tommy Aaron fifth with 720.6.

Player ranked sixth with 709.1, Dick Lotz was eighth with 701.5; Dave Stockton ninth with 677.8 and Bob Charles tenth with 660.6.

Patriots Pick Training Site

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Patriots will train for the second straight year at the University of Massachusetts in preparation for the National Football League season.

Cough Clive Rush said Monday that the training camp will open July 20, with two daily workouts scheduled to begin July 23.

Poppy Sales by Three Generations

Mrs. Griffin is a member of long standing in the Leslie Huddleston Unit 12 of the American Legion Auxiliary, acquiring her eligibility through her late husband, Herbert Griffin, who served in the armed services in World War 2.

Mrs. Flowers also earned her right to become a Jr. and Sr. member through Legion membership of her father, Herbert Griffin.

Now, Dana and Julia have become Jr. members. All four have been volunteer poppy day sales ladies, beginning 23 years ago.

Oriole Player Has to Have Face Surgery

ORANGE, Calif. (AP) — Paul Blair, Baltimore Orioles star centerfielder, was reported in good condition and resting comfortably Monday night after three hours of surgery to repair injuries suffered when he was struck in the face by a pitch.

Blair had been placed on the 21-day disabled list earlier Monday by the American League East club. He was struck on the nose Sunday by a pitch from Ken Tatum of the California Angels.

A spokesman at St. Joseph's Hospital said the surgery consisted of the "open reduction and reconstruction of numerous fractures of the nose, left cheek and left orbital bone," just below the left eye.

Doctors were unable to determine immediately whether Blair might suffer lasting visual difficulties. He was initially reported to be suffering from double vision due to the sagging of muscles beneath the left eye. Further tests were set for Tuesday.

Rosewall and Okker Keep Hopes Alive

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Okker of The Netherlands and Ken Rosewall of Australia kept their hopes alive in the $200,000 Tennis Champions Classic Monday night by winning qualifying matches and the right to play each other for the fourth and final spot in the semifinals.

Okker defeated Tony Roche of Australia in a long five-setter, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5, 3-6, 6-4, winning the third set in a tie-breaker by outscoring Roche, 7-3, after the players had dueled to a 5-5 tie.

Rosewall, who only 24 hours previously had beaten countryman Fred Stolle, 6-2, 6-1, in St. Louis, had to rally from loss of the first set in beating Stolle 5-7, 6-4, 6-0, 6-1.

On Tuesday night, Okker and Rosewall will play for a winner-take-all $10,000 prize and the right to face Australian Roy Emerson in the semifinal Friday night.

Happenings Around the Golf Trail

By BOB GREEN Associated Press Golf Writer CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Notes from the pro golf tournament trail:

Lee Trevino was talking about the way he hits the ball, low and with a slight fade.

"Most of the guys out here are hookers," the talkative Trevino said. "I hit it with a fade, just like a lot of nine-handicappers do."

"The only difference is that I aim it left and it winds up right in the middle of the fairway. The nine handicapper tees it up, aims it down the middle and it's in the woods."

"And he won't learn. He'll do the same thing next time and he's back in those woods again. If he'd aim it left he'd be down the middle. But that's why he's got a nine handicap and I'm playing for $100,000 a week."

Singer Glen Campbell, as many show business types, is an avid golf fan and player. But he has to hold a record of some sort. In the first 20 tournaments

Convicted Slayer Fails to Return

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A search was begun Monday for William E. Goudy, a convicted murderer who failed to return this year, he played in eight pro-ams, from California to Florida.

Jack Nicklaus was explaining his thinking in planning to play in the Kemper this week and skipping the prestigious Western Open in Chicago next week.

"I've played in the western three years in a row now," Nicklaus said, "and I haven't played in Charlotte for some time. I just thought it would be more fair this way."

"Actually, I'd rather play the Western because the course is more like Hazeltine (the site of the U.S. Open), but I'll just take the week off and go to Hazeltine a week early."

to Cummins Prison Farm after being furloughed by Correction Commissioner Robert Sarver.

Sarver granted the furlough after being told an apparently phony story that one of Goudy's children was ill. Goudy was supposed to return to the prison last Sunday.

Sheriff Marion Thomas of Crittenden County, from which Goudy was sentenced, told newsmen, "I think it is ridiculous that a first-degree murderer is handled so recklessly."

Sarver said he failed to check out Goudy's story, or the phone call in which Goudy's wife said last Thursday that one of the youngsters was sick.

"I relied on my personal knowledge," Sarver said. "He realized that because he was a trusty and had been a model prisoner, I would probably give him the benefit of the doubt and let him go."

"It obviously was planned well in advance," Sarver added. "I have never been as shocked or disappointed over an incident in my life as I am over this one."

A deal to believe in. From a dealer to believe in.

If it takes value to make you believe in a car, believe in the new Buick Skylark. Every Buick is crafted with integrity. And filled with value.

You get things like a cooling system that should never overheat, even with air conditioning.

You get an automobile so well built that its drive train and chassis are literally tuned to the bias-belted tires that are standard equipment. So that they'll last even longer and provide even greater traction.

One other point. Value also has to do with the man who sells and services the car you buy. Good service can help you maintain the value of your new car.

Check the good deals your Buick dealer is offering right now on the Buick of your choice. If you're looking for something to believe in, you'll find it there.

After all, wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

Buick Value/Buick Dealers. Something to believe in.

THE FAMILY LAWYER
Blood Tests and Paternity

To hear the girl's story, told fearfully on the witness stand, there could be no doubt that the defendant was the father of her baby. But the results of the blood tests shed a different light on the matter. The tests showed the following results:

The girl had one type of blood: the defendant had another type of blood; and the baby had still another type of blood.

Since a baby's blood must match either his mother's or his father's, some other man—someone with the baby's blood type—must have been the real father. The upshot was that the girl's charge was discredited and the defendant cleared of responsibility.

In this fashion, blood tests have saved hundreds of men from a false charge of paternity. These tests, if properly conducted, are now accepted almost everywhere either as positive proof or at least strong evidence of non-paternity.

However, they have one major drawback. While they are useful in showing who is not the father, they are seldom useful in showing who is the father.

For example, suppose that in the case above, the baby and the defendant did have the same blood type. That would mean the defendant could indeed be the father. But so could any other man with that same type of blood. Thus, mere similarity of blood cannot ordinarily be relied on to pin paternity on a specific defendant.

This means that in a typical paternity suit, the woman has little to gain and much to lose from blood tests. If she refuses to agree to the tests, either for herself or for the baby, may a court order them anyhow?

Courts usually do have that power. In one case, the woman objected that the tests were not impartial, because they could only help the defendant's side of the case, not hers. Nevertheless, the court ordered her to submit to the testing procedure.

Opening lead—A ♠

If you don't want to use negative doubles at all you don't have to do so. You also don't have to read this article but we feel that it will be of great interest to nearly all bridge players. They won't have to use the bid but they will have some idea of what to do when it is used against them.

The basic idea of the negative double is that when your partner's opening bid is overcalled, your double of the overcall is for take-out, not for business.

The believers in this bid use it over all sorts of overcalls. Since you should get your feet wet before you learn to swim we are only going to discuss the basic case. The double of a one-spade overcall of a minor suit opening to show at least six high-card points and to guarantee at least four hearts. It also implies some preparation for anything your partner may do.

With 12 points North has a very good negative double. South cue-bids spades since his hand is very strong and he wants to force to game. West's double of two spades gave North a chance to pass and a wait developments. When South bid hearts North felt strong enough to invite a slam and South accepted.

South won the first spade; returned the suit and ruffed the third lead. Then he played out three rounds of trumps and three top clubs. When West showed out on the third club, South knew he had started with exactly six spades; three hearts and two of each minor suit. Now South entered dummy with the ace of diamonds and played dummy's last trump. East had to go down to one diamond so as to keep the high club. South discarded his last club and claimed since the queen of diamonds was sure to drop.

Too Much Sun, Sunlamp Can Cause Skin Aging
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What are the benefits and the harmful effects of a sunlamp? Is it necessary to wear goggles when using one?

A—Exposure of your hands and face to the sun or a sunlamp for 10 minutes a day will cause your body to synthesize all the vitamin D you need. So much for the benefits. The ultraviolet rays from either source are the chief cause of premature aging (wrinkles and thickening) of the skin and skin cancer. Your eyes should be shielded from direct exposure to these rays because they will irritate your retinas and in sufficient quantity can cause blindness.

Q—Is there a home remedy that will protect my skin from the sun? Will baby oil mixed with iodine or an anti-histamine do this? I am tired of buying expensive commercial lotions.

A—I know of no home remedy for this purpose. Baby oil,

The spunk of a 98-year-old invalid in London is refreshing.

"I wasn't frightened a bit," said Miss Jennie Arnold after two burglars invaded her home, stole $7.20, her pension book and her door key. She explained that she seldom had visitors other than a nurse and a cleaning woman, so she found the intrusion welcome.

"It was most exciting. Life gets boring, and it brightened things up a bit. I didn't speak to the men, but one of them did smile." Her reaction confirms our observation that everyone likes attention — favorable, if possible; if not, unfavorable. — Miami (Fla.) Herald

Disposal Fee

Senator William Proxmire of Wisconsin proposes a penny-a-pound disposal fee on all products likely to be disposed of within 10 years of manufacture, saying the money would help cities dispose of wastes and encourage polluters to control the waste they produce. Far too many people, however, would be willing to pay a fee rather than give up the disposable products of the affluent society. — Little Rock (Ark.) Arkansas Gazette.

Death Cases May Go Down in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
McCaughy and Crampton. Those names may someday be as familiar as Dred Scott to students learning landmark decision by the Supreme Court.

James Crampton and Dennis Councle McCaughy are convicted murderers whose capital punishment appeals the court agreed Monday to hear next fall.

The action came as the court postponed for possibly a year a decision on use of the death penalty in the United States, leaving intact a judicial freeze that has halted all executions for the past three years.

The action sent back to the trial court the case of William L. Maxwell, a convicted rapist, whose appeal of a death sentence had widely been expected to produce a landmark capital punishment ruling.

Maxwell, 38, of Hot Springs, Ark., was convicted in 1962 for the rape of a 35-year-old Hot Springs woman. He is a Negro. The victim was white.

By its handling of the Maxwell case, the court insured that its newest appointee, Judge Harry A. Blackburn, will participate — giving a full nine-member court for what observers expect may be a narrowly divided decision. Blackburn joins the court next week.

Two years ago the court ruled that death sentences could not be imposed by juries from which opponents of capital punishment were automatically excluded.

The Maxwell case did not raise the ultimate question of whether the death penalty is "cruel and unusual" punishment, which is barred by the Constitution, but is questioned the constitutionality of procedures employed in most capital cases.

The Crampton and McCaughy appeals raise the same constitutional arguments and the McCaughy case includes a direct challenge to the death penalty.

Wallace's Fate at Stake in Alabama

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

George C. Wallace, who towered over Alabama politics for six years, battled to reverse a home base setback today in a showdown Democratic runoff that could affect the shape of the 1972 presidential campaign.

In eight states, from New Jersey to California, voters were choosing party nominees for the Senate, Statehouses and Congress in the year's biggest outpouring of ballots.

But nowhere were the national stakes so high as in Alabama, where Wallace sought to wrest the governorship from Albert Brewer, a one-time protégé who has become a formidable threat to his presidential campaign prospects.

Wallace trailed Brewer by 11,000 votes in the indecisive, first-round primary a month ago, although the incumbent fell far short of a majority in the seven-way race.

Precedent favors Brewer, for not in 56 years has the man who led the first primary lost a runoff. But Wallace, sidestepping questions about his future plans as a third-party presidential entry, toughened his campaign stance for the showdown contest, and put new emphasis on an old issue—race. He charged the Negro bloc vote put Brewer where he was, and declared:

"If the black bloc vote wins this election, it will have control of this state for the next 50 years."

Brewer's incumbency is a legacy of the past Wallace dominance. Barred by law from succeeding himself, Wallace entered his wife, Lurleen, in the gubernatorial race four years ago, and she won in a landslide. When she died of cancer two years later, Brewer, as lieutenant governor, succeeded to the top job.

Today's winner is assured of a four-year term as governor; Republicans have indicated they won't enter a candidate.

There are Alabama politicians who believe Wallace will go ahead with another national campaign whatever today's outcome. But a home state defeat certainly would cripple such an effort during the crucial two years ahead.

Senate nominations are being contested in four states. In Mississippi, Democratic Sen. John C. Stennis had no opposition in either party.

Republican Sen. George Murphy of California appeared headed for renomination over Norton Simon, a multimillionaire making his first political venture. Murphy had the backing of Gov. Ronald Reagan and, indirectly, President Nixon.

Happy Is the Man Who Can Enjoy Memories Without Any Sadness

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is the keystone to the greatness of human life.

A flower without a memory may be still a flower, but a man without a memory is no longer human. He is merely an amiable vegetable, an echo of his instincts.

Happy is he who can enjoy the garden of his memories without too much sadness, recrimination, or regret. You've got a pretty extensive memory garden yourself if you can look back and remember when—

Film star Jimmy Cagney was a Broadway hooper, and Rex Harrison was selling automobiles in London.

You were coming up in the world if you ate in a restaurant that charged a dime instead of a nickel for a glass of beer.

Chorus girls were built more like hoppers than ponies.

Mothers didn't have much to say on Monday night because their mouths were sore from holding wooden clothespins all afternoon while they hung up the week's wash to dry on the backyard line.

More horses in America were driven than ridden, and more farmers were gored by bulls than hurt in tractor accidents.

A man could go through life without being told by his doctor

Private Racial Suits on Discrimination Ruled Out by Court

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reading a Reconstruction era law in a restricted way, the Supreme Court has barred damage suits by victims of purely private racial discrimination.

The 5-2 interpretation Monday of an 1871 federal civil rights law requires a showing of state enforcement of discrimination before the victim can collect.

Justice John M. Harlan, speaking for the majority, said the court has always held the Constitution does not protect individuals from private discrimination.

In this first interpretation of the key provision of the 90-year-old law, Harlan said a New York school teacher who claimed she was denied lunch counter service in Hattiesburg, Miss., in 1964 would have to show the discrimination was sponsored by the state before she could collect on her $50,000 suit.

The ruling still permits the teacher, Sandra Adickes, to press her damage suit against the S. H. Kress chain, but limited by the narrow requirements of proof. Miss Adickes, who is white, contends a waitress refused to take her order because she was seated with six black students.

The law authorizes damage suits against "every person who, under color of any statute, ordinance, regulation, custom or usage, of any state or territory," deprives any citizen of his rights.

Justice William O. Douglas, a dissenter, said the court was sanctioning a lingering tolerance for racial discrimination. "It is time we stopped being niggardly in construing civil rights legislation," Douglas said.

Justice William J. Brennan Jr. took much the same approach in another dissent, though his tone was milder.

In another major action Monday the court postponed until next term a ruling on major challenges to use of the death penalty in the United States.

William L. Maxwell, an Arkansas Negro whose appeal mounted into a test case, was granted a new hearing in federal court on the exclusion of opponents of capital punishment from his trial jury.

While dropping the Maxwell case the court took on appeals

More Definite School Plan Is Sought

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The attorney general's office filed a motion Monday in U.S. District Court asking for a more definite statement from plaintiffs who hope to bar state Education Department aid to undersegregated school districts.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Mike Wilson filed the motion, which requested that the plaintiffs state how, where and when the department had provided aid to the districts.

The Justice Department earlier this year threatened to file a similar suit against 39 districts, but granted a delay so the districts could voluntarily comply.

Most of those 39 districts agreed to unitize their schools this fall.

Bryant Bank Robbers Still at Large

BRYANT, Ark. (AP) — Authorities continued to search today for two men who robbed the Bryant branch of the Union Bank of Benton Monday of about $3,500.

Police said one of the men may be a federal fugitive believed to be carrying hand grenades and other weapons.

Mrs. Mary Wray of Salem, a teller at the branch, said the two men came to the bank twice, first to exchange a roll of quarters for a $10 bill.

Then Mr. and Mrs. Duane Edwards and their son, Billy, came to the bank and were seated at Mrs. Wray's desk, opening a new account, when the two men returned.

"I got up to take the Edwards' deposit around to the cashier's drawer when suddenly one of the men shouted 'hold it,' Mrs. Wray said.

She said one of the men pointed a gun at her while the other man forced Van Wright, the branch manager, to help fill a sack with money. Mrs. Wray said the path of the alarm button was blocked by the gunman.

Nixon Will Okay Israel Plane Sales

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, alarmed over the Soviet military buildup in Egypt, is expected in the near future to approve the sale of more combat planes to Israel and announce resumption of diplomatic efforts to defuse the tense Middle East situation.

Nixon is due to announce his decision as soon as an administration review of the Middle East situation has been completed. The President ordered the fresh evaluation six weeks ago after Russian fighter pilots started flying missions inside Egypt—a move Nixon considers ominous.

Nixon Told Economy on Upswing

By DON KENDALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin told President Nixon today the nation's farm economy is on the upswing and that major steps have been taken to meet administration agricultural goals.

In his first annual report to the White House, Hardin said progress also has been made in feeding the nation's hungry, improving the environment and planning for the future growth of rural America.

"The major continuing problem in agriculture," he added, "and one which specifically affects the level of income, is the capacity and the tendency to produce more of some crops than domestic and foreign markets can handle at satisfactory prices."

In summarizing 1969 activities, Hardin mentioned:

—A rise in farmers' realized net income to about $16 billion or $1.2 billion more than in 1968.

—An increase in average net income per farm to a record high of $5,401 compared with $4,841 in 1968.

—A per capita personal farm income of a record $2,375 average, compared with $2,163 in 1968 and $1,100 in 1960.

—Record total farm assets of $307 billion, compared with $297 billion in 1968 and $178 billion in 1960.

—Record farm-owned equity of $249 billion versus $243 billion in 1968 and $178 billion in 1960.

However, the report said, average farm income in 1969 still

Disposal Plan Is Approved in General

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The director of the Arkansas Pollution Control Commission said Monday that the commission had approved "in general" an Army plan to dispose of residue of chemical and biological warfare agents produced at the Pine Bluff Arsenal.

S. Ladd Davies, the director said the final plan "will be a very safe means of disposal." He declined to discuss details of the plan and said arsenal officials would not specify what materials are to be disposed of.

The commission objected to an Army plan to dump sterilized residue into the Arkansas River and the proposal was dropped, Davies said.

"They told us they had a certain amount of organic material which, by sterilization, or whatever process they use, would have no biological life in it," Davies said.

He said the plan called for disposal at the arsenal, rather than elsewhere, but he denied a published report that said the current plan called for disposing of the material by scattering it on arsenal grounds.

House Battle Develops Over Secret Cambodia Testimony by Rogers

By JIM ADAMS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A battle has developed in the House over a secrecy label placed on four hours of testimony by Secretary of State William P. Rogers in which he reportedly told a subcommittee he opposed sending American troops into Cambodia.

Nearly all the secretary's testimony, seven days before President Nixon's April 30 announcement of the U.S. attack into Cambodia, was deleted when the official transcript of the session was released Monday.

"Parts of this testimony may have been embarrassing to the executive branch, but national security—not embarrassment—is the standard we have set for classifying information in our record," said Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass.

Conte, in a dissent signed by six other members of the House foreign aid appropriations subcommittee, accused Chairman Otto E. Passman, D-La., of allowing Rogers to delete almost all his testimony from the public transcript.

The censored version contained only the opening statement in which Rogers outlined most of the administration's $2.9 billion foreign aid request.

Both Passman and the subcommittee's senior Republican, Frank T. Bow of Ohio, defended the decision to delete four hours of discussion about Indochina.

"We're in a hot war," Passman said. "And if they say it should come out, as far as I'm concerned, it will come out."

Said Bow: "Publishing dated testimony that would only add to the existing confusion on this decision is hardly in the public interest."

Rogers reportedly told the subcommittee:

"We recognize that if we escalate and we get involved in Cambodia with our ground troops that our whole program is defeated. Our whole motivation is the other way."

McClerkin Files for Governor

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Rep. Hayes C. McClerkin of Texarkana filed Monday as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

McClerkin, speaker of the House, had previously announced as a candidate. He is in his fifth term as a representative.

Others who have filed for the office in the Democratic primary are Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell of Benton and attorney Robert C. Compton of El Dorado.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Word has come from the White House, where President Nixon is preparing a Cambodian progress report to be televised nationally tonight, that B52 bombers might be used in Cambodia after June 30 on missions necessary to protect U.S. troops in South Vietnam. Officials have ruled out, however, tactical air support for South Vietnam in Cambodia after the U.S. troop withdrawal deadline. The speech will follow by several hours the first major Senate test vote on proposals to curb Nixon's powers to use U.S. troops in Cambodia.

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops have overrun part of a South Vietnamese mountain-top artillery base, inflicting one of the heaviest casualties tolls suffered by the Saigon government's forces in such an attack. Reports said at least 46 South Vietnamese are dead, 84 wounded and 15 missing.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Placement of a secrecy label over four hours of testimony by Secretary of State William P. Rogers to the House foreign aid appropriations subcommittee has caused a battle among House members. In the testimony, taken a week before President Nixon announced that he had sent U.S. troops into Cambodia, Rogers reportedly voiced opposition to such a use of troops.

White House aides have said the 15-minute address will relate to accomplishments in the month-old Cambodian campaign and will not produce any dramatic announcements or new decisions.

Nixon returned Monday night from a four-day Memorial Day holiday in California, working on his Cambodian speech aboard Air Force One on the cross-country trip.

He planned to put in more time on it today after morning welcoming ceremonies and a meeting with visiting Venezuelan President Rafael Caldera.

The President will make the speech in prime broadcast time to present what he says are encouraging reports from military commanders on progress in Cambodia and Vietnam.

The speech also comes within a few hours of when the Senate takes its first important test vote on proposals to curb Nixon's powers to use U.S. troops in Indochina.

Senate Democrats and Republicans predict, however, Nixon's talk will not cut into the expected support for the Cooper-Church amendment to bar funds for Cambodian military operations after June 30.

As the President worked on his speech, a new move was started in the House, led by Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, to limit military spending in Southeast Asia by attaching a curb on Nixon's proposals to increase the debt limit from the present $377 to $395 billion.

Several previous House efforts to restrict Nixon's moves in Indochina have failed.

The White House views on U.S. air activities in Cambodia came from Ziegler during a briefing with reporters in San Clemente that was at times confusing and drew sharp questioning, some of which the President's press secretary termed "belligerent."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has raised the possibility B52 bombers might be used in Cambodia after June 30 if such missions are felt necessary to protect American troops in South Vietnam.

But, officials have ruled out any tactical air support for the South Vietnamese in Cambodia after that deadline for the withdrawal of American troops.

This word came as President Nixon worked on a Cambodian progress report to be carried on nationwide television and radio Wednesday at 9 p.m. EDT.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters in San Clemente, Calif., Monday all U.S. troops, as well as logistical and air support for the South Vietnamese would be withdrawn from Cambodia June 30 as President Nixon had said earlier.

But Ziegler emphasized that "U.S. air action would be in relation to the security of the U.S. forces in South Vietnam" and he did not rule out the use of the strategic bombers in this role.

It was not known whether President Nixon would get into the question of air support or protective bombing in the Wednesday speech.

None Seriously Injured in 67 Accident

About 8:10 last night on Highway 67 some six miles west of Hope autos driven by Ware Dowling of Ozan and Miss Randy Buche of Longview, Texas collided. Nobody was seriously injured but several of the five in the Texas car sustained cuts and bruises but all were released from a local hospital following treatment.

State Trooper Wallace Martin said the Texas car, driven by Miss Buche, was passing a truck in a no passing zone and hit the Ozan car head-on. There was considerable property damage. Two passengers in the Texas car were members of the famous Kilgore Rangelites.

Officer Martin charged Randy Buche with passing on a yellow no passing line. There was heavy property damage.
